	As legionaries in the roman army, you are here in Roman Britain in the hope of making a name for yourselves, earning your way up through the ranks. Impress Julius Flavius, the centurion in charge here, or his second in charge Optio Marcus Sentius - and you could move from legionary to Decanus or even Tesserrarius! You have been sent to relieve the garrison at Calleva Atrebatum and are continuing your training so that you can support the Roman army throughout Romano Britain. We have heard that the Iceni tribe are starting to cause a problem and may have to deal with this.

10:15	Roman Skills KQ: What key skills are needed to support our life here? How would we use these skills? What would happen if we didn't have these skills? These skills enable us to be self-sufficient and also trade with others. Also consider everyday life for our people (long working day, hard life)	Roman Military Manoeuvres KQ: How do we fight? We need to train ready for any potential battle. It is important to work as a team; your lives depend on it! However, you are still seeking to be promoted within the army by showing that you can follow orders and think quickly.
